

FACTS & FICTION

The great problem for the suppression of cruelty to animals may be solved if we turn more from the corrective to the preventative stage. That trite saying aptly fits, "You can't teach an old dog new tricks." There is little hope of permanent reformation among men and women steeped in the habit of cruelty.

We turn with hope, however to the youth and children of our day for the application of preventative methods. The spirit that animates a child to take pleasure in giving pain to a dumb creature, more helpless than itself, is the same that prompts acts of cruelty in an adult to a child.

Some boys can find no better pastime on summer evenings than chasing poor cats from place to place; and this unfeeling play is often carried to the extreme of killing.

A stray dog runs along, a boy picks up a stone and hurls it at him; a yelp of pain tells us the aim was too true. Dare we look with indifference at this spirit of cruelty, which these apparently small acts, are generating in the children? Will the peace and welfare of our country be safe in the hands of these, who are to become our nation's protectors, the parents of our next generation? We can well trust our country's honor to the soldier, who on his march, picked up a little bird, buttoned it snugly in his coat and when camp was reached, fed and tenderly cared for it. Why not publish names of offenders against humane laws? A number of interesting stories of kindness to dumb creatures, collected in book form, introduced into our schools and public libraries may serve to create in the hearts of the young a love for all helpless creatures, and put to shame the spirit of cruelty which is so dominant. Clubs may also be formed among children as supporters of the noble work the Humane Societies of the United States and the world are undertaking.

Here is the way a country editor gets his subscribers: "Darling delinquents! Do you think we have sold out and gone west with the grasshoppers? No, no, little sugar lump, we could not get away if we wanted to. We are still at the old stand, dishing out the paper on sweet promises and bright expectations. These make an excellent diet, darling, with a little wind pudding, flavored with a word of encouragement to serve as a desert.

"We are waiting and watching for thee, turtle dove. We long to hear the sound of thy gentle footsteps and hear the silvery rattle of thy happy voice within our lonely sanctum.

"Dear one, we are unusually sad and lonely tonight without you. We sigh for one glance of your eye and even half you owe us. Don't see how you can do without us. Don't see how we can possibly live without you dear. Now, pie-crust, will you answer, in a voice sweet and beguiling, I'm coming, or is it only the wailing winds that 'round our sanctum roar?"

Rev. Richard McAfee, who held a meeting at this place sometime since and closed it on account of sickness, writes to a friend that he was very sick after reaching Cadiz and also that his child was expected to live for several days. They are both well now, however.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

For over a year past it has been evident to the close observer, and in fact the colored miner who cast in his lot with the U. M. W. has been warned, that he was being used simply as a tool to get, if possible, the chestnuts out of the fire, that the love the organization, as composed here, have for him extended only so far as the colored brother could serve their evil purposes, and the revelations made during the past year or two will fully corroborate this statement. Who was employed to take the lead in the attack on the non-union miners when enroute last year to Providence to work in mines there? Who were the principal men who led the attack on the Providence mine about the same time. Evidence is not lacking to show that in both cases the colored man was compelled to bear the brunt of the battle, placed, it is stated, by the white agitators, who always took care to keep a safe distance from the firing line. Then, again, who of the whole number guilty of unlawful acts now languishes in the state prison? The colored U. M. W., and his conviction was not due to the injustice of the court, but rather to the carrying out, evidently, of carefully prearranged plans of the chief agitators, whereby the colored agitator should alone be the sufferer when caught in deeds of violence or lawlessness of any kind. Of course, the colored U. M. W., when he allows himself to be made a principal in crime, deserves no sympathy or protection from the hands of courts, and we only cite these facts to show how they have been duped. Even Agitation Chappell, who justly languishes in the Webster county jail, can see the deep laid conspiracy to make the race of people of whom he is a representative the scapegoat, and if we are correctly informed the same rule has been applied in the distribution of the necessities of life, the best always going to the star chamber members. Even last week, we are told, when a so-called picnic was being held at a point near Madisonville, the colored brother was invited to take a back seat, and out of a total number of probably 100 who attended the affair, not one colored U. M. W. could be seen on the grounds, so our informant states. He was even refused permission; to partake in the feast of cheese and crackers, which we understand composed the dinner on this occasion, and such being the case, are the colored members of the U. M. W. not fully justified in complaining long and loud, which we understand from reports they are now doing, and the old saying may in this case prove true that "when rogues fall out and fight honest people may get their just dues."

It is not a pleasant thing to call attention to, neither do we do so in an exultant manner, yet it is nevertheless the fact that once happy and contented miners before they joined the U. M. W. could be seen vending their way in company with wife and children with well filled baskets to attend a picnic. Now they are seen wandering along the highway by themselves, with the basket missing, while enroute to the sardine and cheese eating contest.

Foreman Thomas Longstaff, with a crew of men, is now busily engaged sinking a test hole on what is thought to be coal lands in Webster county. Tom thinks the signs are good and prospects of striking coal bright and confident that he is in the midst of a fine coal field and the St. Bernard Mining Co., for whom he works, places great confidence in Mr. Longstaff's judgment.

Business of vast importance to the St. Bernard Mining Company, of whom he is a valuable and trusted representative, called Mr. James R. Rash to Providence and vicinity the past week. Negotiations are pending, we understand, in connection with the purchase of the mineral rights of a large body of land in Webster county, and Mr. Rash is the purchasing agent of said company.

The force of coal loaders at the Victoria mine made a good record one day last week, loading a 60,000 capacity car in 19 minutes. This speed, if kept up during the day, would mean about 32 cars, or nearly two full trains.

Manager Gordon, in company with Foreman Toombs, both of the St. Bernard Mining Company, one day recently, accepted an invitation to visit the Reincke mine. Secretary Bailly was with them and took great pleasure in showing them through his finely equipped building, of which he justly feels proud.

Scarcity of cars caused the Victoria mine to lay idle last Saturday and also the Reincke Company to lose most of the day.

Assistant Mine Engineer Frank Rash has been busily engaged in some survey work down in Webster county, and we give what the Providence department of the Sebree paper says about him: "Frank Rash, of Earlington, mining engineer for the St. Bernard Coal Company, is here this week on professional business."

The Shamrock Coal Co., near Providence have struck a vein of what is known as number 12 coal, which measures about six feet thick. It is of poor quality and is not considered marketable. About six feet under this is supposed to be number 11 vein of an excellent quality but hardly as thick a vein. This company will probably be ready to produce coal next week on a small scale. The ties for the new coal siding of this mine is on the ground and track will soon be laid.

Rumors, whether well founded or not, are in circulation that the organization, known as the U. M. W. are in such destitute conditions that a call for county aid may be soon expected. Of course as there are no provisions made by law applicable to such cases, the probability is that a lot of idle men will have to work for a living or see their families suffer.

During all the mining trouble existing here and in Webster county for the past year or more, not a single case can be cited, wherein the operators or the guards employed by them can be justly accused of attempted assassination of a single member of the U. M. W. No matter how great the provocation may have been at times. But what a contrast to this has been the action of the Mine Workers, whom evidence circumstantial and positive has closely connected with many such cases of crime. The latest being the attempted assassination of a non union miner at St. Charles, who was molesting no one at the time.

Chief book keeper, of the Crabtree mine, W. G. Wright, was disabled a portion of last week, by a rising on one of his hands, which called for a surgical operation. He is now better and able for duty.

Another new mining machine will soon be put in the Hecla mine. Making four in all at work there, which in addition to the mines, makes that mine well equipped for a large production of coal.

A Newspaper Hoodoo.

There is a hoodoo in every newspaper office. It hides behind the cobwebs and comes out at critical times and gets in its dastardly work. The story of how the newspaper hoodoo was born is told with hushed breath in every newspaper office. Those who say that when Herr Guttenberg started the first newspaper in Germany a maiden lady of advanced years persuaded some irresponsible youth to marry her. She left word at the newspaper office that the thing be properly written up. The paper told the facts, including a statement about the bride's age, looks and disposition, and she being mad with rage, sold herself to the devil and was transformed into an evil spirit. To this day this spirit prowls around newspaper offices. Don't laugh when you see ludicrous things in the paper; they are the devil's work. Cross yourself.

A Dangerous Rooster.

While a sixteen-months-old child of a tenant living on the farm of Silas Robertson, near Fernleaf, was playing in the yard the other day it was attacked by a large Plymouth Rock rooster. The rooster made terrible use of his spurs in the little tot's face, cutting a gash in each ear above the left eye, and finally broke the point of one spur off in the child's forehead at the edge of its hair. The child's screams attracted the mother, who hastened to its rescue and drove the infuriated chicken away. In a few more minutes the rooster would probably have killed the child.—Dover News.

Hopkins County Fair.

Only a short time until the great Hopkins county fair will begin. There will be more attractions this year than ever. Ice water in abundance and absolutely free to all. Don't fail to attend this year, if you have never been before or never expect to go again. This is to be the cracker-jack fair and carnival of the season and you can't afford to miss it.

New Boat on the Lake.

E. M. Orr and W. C. Edmondson have purchased a boat from some party in Henderson and it is now floating proudly on the waters of Loch Mary. We are extremely glad of this purchase, as we frequently have cause to borrow a boat and do not like to ask the same man each time.

Chased a Wheat Thresher.

Some of the boys are telling one on Mr. Fegan, the genial and jovial check weighman on No. 9 tip. It is said he is so intent on securing his proportion of gondolas that he chased a thresher engine half way to Harrodsburg to ask them if they had any gous.

Bold Fellow.

"Yes, mother," said the Boston girl. "I have broken my engagement with Emerson, because of an order issued by the Union Pacific railroad forbidding employees to frequent business places when they are off duty. The order is being rigidly enforced and railroad men will now have a chance to pay grocery bills, buy new dresses for their wives and to invest their surplus earnings in real estate."

In Breathitt county John Oaks mortally wounded Benton Blanton, and killed Joseph Coldiron, an innocent bystander.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

W. S. Martin, formerly superintendent of the Henderson division, has been made superintendent of the Southern lines between St. Louis and Louisville.

Operator Larkin, who has been working days at this place, has been transferred to Nortonville.

Operator Brooks, who formerly worked here, is now working at Guthrie nights.

We understand Charles Daniels, who worked here a short while, has been appointed agent at Hopkinsville. Here's to you, Charlie.

There are several changes on this division in contemplation that we cannot speak of just at present.

Chief Dispatcher E. L. Wise was in Louisville a few days this week on business.

Dispatcher Willie K. Griffin says "if he don't get to make that visit to his Ohio home soon, there will be trouble in the camp and someone is going to get hurt."

The boys say that C. J. M. is kept quite busy answering letters to the young ladies who have written to him from all over the country.

Conductor Joe Robertson says Sam Branch, better known as "Pizen Oak Sam," is a regular Jonah to him, as he can never go in on time when Sam is pulling him.

Don't be uneasy, E— We are on to that little trouble that occurred the other night, but we will not say a word about it.

W. J. Palmer, through freight conductor, subscribed to the Bee last week. There is another man that knows a good thing when he sees it.

Will someone please rise and explain why Ed Beal travels the road leading to the lake so much?

Dispatcher Ed Brownlie was here this week moving his family to Birmingham, where he is at work in the dispatcher's office.

Mr. M. T. Morgan, general superintendent of the Gulf & Ship Island Railroad and an old Earlington boy, sends the publisher of The Bee a copy of the Mississippi Journal, published at Gulfport, Miss., and adds an invitation to "stop off and remain awhile" when we go that way. In the department headed "Industrial" The Journal has this to say of Mr. Morgan's road:

"The Gulf & Ship Island Railroad, in the 11 months ended May 31, 1902, delivered to its connections 28,431 loaded cars, as compared with 18,322 loaded cars in the corresponding period of the preceding year, the increase being 55 per cent. In the same 11 months the company received 13,391 loaded cars, as against 10,622 cars the year before, the increase being 26 per cent."

Mr. Sanders, of Guthrie, is day operator here now.

Rum Shops Forced to Close.

Within the last few weeks 25 rum shops have gone out of business in Cheyenne, Wyo., because of an order issued by the Union Pacific railroad forbidding employees to frequent business places when they are off duty. The order is being rigidly enforced and railroad men will now have a chance to pay grocery bills, buy new dresses for their wives and to invest their surplus earnings in real estate.

In Breathitt county John Oaks mortally wounded Benton Blanton, and killed Joseph Coldiron, an innocent bystander.

Dry weather still continues, and unless we have rain soon, corn and tobacco will be badly damaged.

The tobacco men are busy shipping tobacco. There will be over a thousand headstems shipped from this point during the present season. Another factory is needed badly as there is not room enough here to handle the crops produced in this vicinity.

A crew of men have been making headquarters in Nebo for the past ten days at work on the Cumberland Telephone line. They are peaceful, sober gentlemen and by their quiet gentlemanly ways have won the respect of the people.

The finishing touches have been given to the new bank building and it is now ready to receive its furniture and go to work.

We had a light shower of rain Saturday night.

There was no preaching in Nebo Sunday. It was the regular day for the C. P. Church, but the pastor Rev. B. F. McMillan has resigned.

OUR GREAT WHEAT CROP

A MONSTER harvest of wheat, a harvest so big that the people of the wheat belt wonder how it is all going to be gathered and handled, is now being garnered in Uncle Sam's big wheat growing districts.

These July days, then, are busy ones for the wheat farmer. From early morning till late at night and often all night long when the moon is shining like the clock and whir of the header, binder and thrasher are heard in the fields. Busy men and toiling horses labor and sweat under the burning July sun while the fruits of nature's handiwork are being gathered.

The harvesting of wheat begins first, of course, in the southern portion of the country. For instance, the binders began humming in the fields of southern Missouri as early as the 10th of June and will be heard far into August in the Dakotas and British Columbia.

Of late years the labor problem has been a vexing one with the big grain growers. Even with the great help afforded by harvesting machinery it is difficult to get men and horses to save the crops.

Less than a score of years ago few farmers would think of sowing more wheat or corn than their own regular help could gather at harvest time. The most a farmer in any community would do was to call a few of the neighbors to assist if the grain threatened to ripen too fast while it was being cut. The importing of labor was unheard of.

But today the wheat belts of the north and the south afford a striking contrast to the relatively small industry of those days. Hundreds of acres in one field, one farmer operating twenty-five binders and employing a hundred harvest laborers, was beyond the wildest dreams of the old time agriculturist. Yet this is common enough in the wheat growing districts today.

David W. Blaine, a farmer of Pratt county, Kan., has arranged a plan to furnish 100 extra men every year to the Kansas farmers. Mr. Blaine began three years ago by advertising in the newspapers for harvest hands to go to his home community, Pratt county, and assist him and his neighbors in caring for surplus grain. Thousands of idle men in the cities read the advertisement and hurried out. This season Blaine secured even more detailed reports of the needs of the farmers as early as April, getting the names of the farmers and number of hands they wanted in every township. He also secured a report on the condition of wheat at that time.

By keeping a close watch on the weather reports he knew early in June about how many men would be needed. He then sent out circulars to the various employment agencies in the United States stating that 20,000 men, 1,000 women and 3,000 teams could be used in the wheatfields for thirty days or more. Most of these laborers follow the wheat harvest from north to south, getting from sixty to ninety days of remunerative employment. The wages range from $1.50 to $2.50 for a day of eight hours, with double pay for extra time.

The immediate cutting of a wheat-field after it once begins to ripen is necessary if it is to be saved. This is why so many thousands of extra men are needed.

A farmer with four good horses, his gang plow and a drill will plant from 200 to 300 acres of grain in the fall, but to handle this grain when ripened requires two horses and a team of men, six more men than are usually found with the average farmer. Naturally these men and teams have to be imported, as well as women to prepare the food for the workers.

The work to be done in a harvest field is extremely thorough and soon tells upon the workers. There is no protection from the sun's rays, which often reach the 115 mark, mowing down the harvesters and their machines cut the yellow grain.

How the Golden Grain Is Garnered From the Fields

The men who come to the wheat belt directly from the cities and have been used to inside work are at first set to driving binders. This pays $1.50 a day, and as they become more accustomed to the rays of the sun they are promoted to the carrying of bundles or shocking and later get the job of hauling, feeding a thrasher, etc.

Those who are unused to the harvest field generally break down the second or third day. Even if not sunstruck, running about through the rough stubble carrying heavy bundles tells on them seriously. The work of the harvest hands is well worth the price paid.

It all depends, however, upon the previous field experience, and this is why so many Kansas farm girls can do more work with a binder than a strong healthy man from the city.

Two types of machines are ordinarily used in the harvesting of wheat, the binder and the header. The binder is usually drawn by three or four horses. It cuts the straw close to the ground, ties it with twine and casts it on the ground ready for the thrasher.

The header is pushed by four horses at the extreme end of the machine. The straw is cut by this machine close to the head, and the head of grain is thrown from the knives into the header box. When the box is full, it is carried to the dumping place to await the thrasher.

But it is on the Pacific slope that mechanical development in wheat production have reached their greatest height.

On the Pacific coast standing grain is so dry by 9 o'clock in harvest time that it can be "headed" or reaped, thrashed, cleaned and sacked all in one machine, which is drawn over the field by a small herd of horses or even through harnessed to a steam traction engine powerful enough to haul a train of freight cars.

Some of these machines will cut a swath fifty feet wide and will reap,

BINDING THE GRAIN.

thrash, clean and sack about 100 acres of grain a day. All over the grain belt today thousands of men and horses are saving the great crop, and for weeks yet they will be busy, for it must be remembered that the United States grows one-fifth of all the wheat produced in this world.

MYSTERIOUS KILLING.

Near Lafayette, in Christian County, On Sunday Night.

While Frank and John White, two prominent young planters, were driving home from Burgin late Sunday night, the former was shot and killed. John White, who had been drinking, claimed his brother was fired on from ambush. He made an effort to kill John Knight a boy who he had accused of the crime. Knight established an alibi.

The verdict of the inquest was that Frank was shot by a party unknown. The dead man's coat was burned by powder. The ball entered the left side, ranging upward through the heart. It is generally believed John White accidentally killed his brother.

Charlie Cox Becomes Insane.

Chas. Cox, who claims Cadiz, Ky., as his home, secured employment from the St. Bernard Mining Company of this place and went to work in No. 11 mine where he worked four days. Last Saturday his co-laborers noticed his actions were peculiar but he did not become violent until 3 o'clock morning.

Deputy Marshal Smith arrested Cox Monday and took him to Madisonville where he was confined until his trial took place Tuesday. He was declared insane by the court, and carried to Hopkinsville on the four o'clock train Tuesday evening.

His father was present at the trial and said he had noticed for some time that his son was slightly but had no idea he was losing his mind. He wanted to take the boy home but the court would not allow it, telling him his son would be better cared for at Hopkinsville and stood a better chance for recovery.

EDITORS OUT ON ANNUAL TRIP.

TO BE THE LARGEST GATHERING IN THE HISTORY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Press Trip Began Wednesday—Banquets, Receptions and Other Things On the Side.

T. G. WATKINS IS TO BE PRESIDENT.

(The Courier-Journal says.)

Fifty knights of the pen and their ladies left Louisville Tuesday in the special coaches provided by the courtesy of the officials of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis road, and four hours later joined their brothers of the press in making the Owensboro convention of the Kentucky Press Association the best in the history of the association.

Owensboro has done its part, and the reception arranged for "ye editors" taxed their unlimited powers of enjoyment. An address by Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of the Lexington Herald; a banquet, reception, drives and an occasional business session are some of the many means designated for the inauguration of scribes' junket which is to follow the gathering at Owensboro.

The trip mapped out this year, though not covering as wide a range of territory as some that have gone before, promises much in the way of pleasure. The convention ended Wednesday night, the delegates, sweethearts and wives took the special Pullmans provided by the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis and the Louisville and Nashville railroads and left for about a week's outing.

Before the editors set out on their journeyings they will choose their officers for the coming year, and in so doing will confer the highest honor in the gift of the association upon Mr. Thomas G. Watkins, the financial editor of the Courier-Journal. Mr. Watkins' election to the presidency will leave vacant the office of vice president, which he now holds, and Mr. Paul M. Moore, of the Earlington Bee, is slated to succeed him. From force of habit, the editors will re-elect Bob Morningstar as secretary.

For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but bland food, and even that I could not retain and digest even that. THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1902.

It is now in order to turn a search light on the Asylum at Hopkinsville and then the hose.

From the cutting and sarcasm remarks the Fairview Review contained in its editorial column last week we are inclined to think the editor's digestion is impaired. Take some Anti-malarial pills brother and talk sweet about the big bugs who wear brass collars.

The last issue of the Elkon Progress says:

"There is another scandal [on at the Western Kentucky Asylum and the result will speak for itself.]"

That is a howling truth Bro. Gaines, but it will be some little time yet before it can speak we presume.

The White Ribboner who edits the temperance column in the Bee draws the wrong conclusion from our little spontaneous effusion in the last issue of this paper. When we used the pronoun "We," we referred to the people in general, and not to ourselves in particular. We drink nothing stronger than tea and consequently we are teetotalers.

The world is moving forward with giant strides. Men grow smaller in stature and larger of brain. Enterprises that are today looked on as commonplace would have astonished the world fifty years ago. Some of the achievements evolved from the wonderful brain of man in the last few years are, Wireless telegraphy and telephony, the automobile, the X-ray, Air ship and various advances in surgery too numerous to mention.

That girl who gives way to an insane desire to gad the streets from daylight until dark and make acquaintance of young men and otherwise act the simpleton, is laying the foundation for a useless after life. It is dollars to doughnuts that after she marries if ever, she will develop into the worst kind of a gossip if no other misfortune befalls her. It is the girl of good sound sense who stays at home and helps her mother that wins the model husband and becomes an ornament to the good and wifehood.

One would like to ask why any one should write "Mrs. Dr. Sidebottom" or "Mrs. Dr. Hopper" any more than one should write "Mrs. Editor Jones" or "Mrs. Trainmaster Sheridan." Mrs. Sidebottom and Mrs. Hopper are not physicians, neither are Mesdames Jones or Sheridan editors or trainmasters—so we think it would be proper to use the husband's initials or say Dr. So and So and wife. If, however, such appellations are in order allow us to say, "Mrs. Traveling Salesman Martin," of Guthrie, passed through the city Tuesday on her way to St. Louis."

Work and labor are both cheap, and you can pick up your premises while you are at it. The time of the year is now at hand when malaria and other forms of disease are contracted from decayed vegetation and other filth. Clean up.

ANOTHER INVASION.

Americans to Build Big Trolley System in Great Britain.

Not content with gobbling up Great Britain's merchant marine and even putting John Bull out of the beer business, both of which feats have earned unpopularity to our consuls across the sea, American capitalists are again invading the tight little island, at a time with the purpose of controlling transportation by land.

The Philadelphia street railway magnates P. A. B. Widener, W. L. Elkins and Thomas Delah, who already control the most profitable street railway business in this country, including the lines in Philadelphia, New York, Washington and Pittsburg, have reached across the Atlantic to secure a heretofore vacant field. They are about to begin the construction of a huge system between Liverpool and Manchester, England. The sum to be expended is said to be $20,000,000.

Thomas A. Nevins of New Jersey, who is also interested, has gone to England to superintend the construction of the vast enterprise, this latest "American invasion," as the British prefer to term it.

According to Mr. Nevins, the new line will be 147 miles long. The territory covered has a population of 2,500,000 and embraces some of the wealthiest parts of England's great manufacturing district. The name of the corporation is the South Lancashire Electric Traction and Power company, limited.

This group of American capitalists already owns and operates the Cheltenham trolley lines, which are exceedingly profitable. Mr. Nevins says the English do not comprehend the tremendous possibilities in electric railways. Concessions were not difficult to secure, and the trolley promoters will have smooth sailing. Liverpool owns its surface railways, and Manchester is building lines. The territory between is unoccupied.

P. A. B. Widener, with another Philadelphia, Clement A. Griscorn, was decorated the other day by Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany with the Order of the Red Eagle.

SURPRISED HER FRIENDS.

A Near Admiral's Daughter Who Married a Soldier.

Mrs. Edythe Skerrett, daughter of the late Rear Admiral Skerrett and formerly a belle at the national capital, has surprised Washington society by quietly wedding Mr. David B. Willis, until recently a crack baseball player of the University of Virginia.

Miss Skerrett has a habit of surprising her friends apparently. She surprised them in December, 1897, when it was announced that she was going on the stage. She made her debut as with slender, well formed figure. Her eyes and hair are dark brown. Miss Skerrett was married at the White House during McKinley's presidency. It was Miss Barber who christened the battleship Ohio at San Francisco on the occasion of McKinley's visit to the coast.

LADY CURZON COMING.

Wife of the Ruler of India to Visit Bar Harbor.

Lady Curzon, wife of the viceroy of India, will be a notable addition to the celebrities at Bar Harbor next month. The viceroy of Great Britain's Indian empire will remain several weeks at the Maine resort, where her mother, Mrs. Levi Leiter, has taken Mossley Hall for the season.

Lady Curzon, it is understood, is much run down by the trying and debilitating climate of India and hopes that the invigorating breezes of Bar Harbor will restore her sufficiently to enable her to rejoin her husband at Calcutta with health enough to admit of her remaining with him in India during the balance of his term as viceroy.

It will be Lady Curzon's first visit to the United States since her marriage, and Mrs. Leiter is making elaborate preparations to entertain her during her sojourn at Bar Harbor. Lord Curzon will not accompany his wife, as he is deterred by statute from leaving India so long as he continues to hold his office as viceroy.

Lady Curzon was formerly Miss Mary Leiter of Chicago. Her father, Levi Leiter, made a vast fortune in the dry goods trade in company with Marshall Field and Potter Palmer and later increased it by judicious investments in Chicago real estate.

Miss Mary Victoria Leiter was married to George Curzon in Washington in 1895. She was then in her twenty-eighth year. In 1898 Lord Curzon was appointed viceroy of India, which is the greatest gift the British government has to bestow.

As vice queen of 200,000,000 of people the American girl became at once a power in the most exclusive society of the world. The courts of Calcutta and Simla are far more magnificent than St. James or any other in Europe. The viceroy of India ranks as a ruler, and his wife is second only to the ladies of the royal family of England.

The actual stipend of the viceroy of India is 20,000 rupees a month, and his allowances are countless. The pay of the viceroy is five times greater than that of the prime minister of England, and his sway extends from the shores of Arabia to the borders of western China.

WILL WED A SOLDIER.

Mrs. McKinley's Niece Betrothed to Major Ralph Hartzel of Denver.

Miss Mary Barber, whose engagement to Major Ralph Hartzel of Denver was recently announced, is the favorite niece of Mrs. McKinley.

Miss Barber is the daughter of Mrs. Marshall P. Barber, only sister of Mrs. McKinley, and lives in the old Saxon homestead at Canton, O. She is petite, with slender, well formed figure. Her eyes and hair are dark brown. Miss Barber was married at the White House during McKinley's presidency. It was Miss Barber who christened the battleship Ohio at San Francisco on the occasion of McKinley's visit to the coast.

MRS. MARSHALL P. BARBER.

Major Hartzel is a lawyer. During the Spanish war he was commissioned a paymaster in the volunteer army with the rank of major. His brother is commander of state for Porto Rico.

Tell a girl she is "pretty as a picture" and she never stops to consider how unattractive some pictures are.

Don't Follow Advice After Paying For It.
In a recent article a prominent physician says, "It is next to impossible for the physician to get his patients to carry out any prescribed course of hygiene or diet to the smallest extent; he has but one resort left, namely, the drug treatment." When medicine is used for chronic constipation, the most mild and gentle obtainable, such as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, should be employed. Their use is not followed by constipation, as they leave the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; R. F. Robinson, Mortons Gap; Geo. King, St. Charles.

Housewives will be wild to join the anti-trust movement now that the price of sugar is going up at the opening of the fruit canning season.

No False Claims.
The proprietors of Foley's Honey and Tar do not advertise this "sure cure for consumption." They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced stages. They positively assert that it will cure in the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief to the worst cases. Foley's Honey and Tar is without doubt the greatest throat and lung remedy ever formulated. For sale by John X. Taylor.

A man named Burke in New York, who scarcely anybody ever heard of before, has given $4,000,000 to the poor and needy. He's well known now.

Caution.
This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for the only remedy universally known, and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1865 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Roscoe's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and morning, there is no healthier preparation than Roscoe's German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

Kentucky farms are valued at $71,045,896, but John D. Rockefeller and a number father or two could buy 'em, and build a ten rail fence around 'em, and then have enough cash left to buy Kentucky thoroughbreds to plow the corn crop.

Vacation Days.
Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air recreation. Nothing equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sore, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and hemorrhoids. Beware of counterfeits. John X. Taylor.

A crank is always trying to understand something that he can't prove, or prove something that he can't understand.

Summer complaint is usually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of every family. This is not intended as a free puff for the company who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Laurens, Iowa, Journal. For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; R. F. Robinson, Mortons Gap; Geo. King, St. Charles.

Treat Your Kidneys For Rheumatism.
When you are suffering from rheumatism, the kidneys must be attended to at once so that they will eliminate the uric acid from the blood. Foley's Kidney Cure is the most effective remedy for this purpose. R. T. I cannot speak too highly of this great medicine." Sold by John X. Taylor.

Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." How to Be Miserable.

A philosopher offers the following excellent rules for those who yearn to make others equally unhappy:

If you wish to be miserable, sit down and imagine you are worse off than anyone else in the world.

Compare your circumstances in life with those of your wealthy neighbor and wish you were in his place.

Don't thank anyone who does you a good deed, but blame him for not doing more.

If there are any poor and suffering about you, don't help them, but let some one else look after them.

Grumble about the weather and think you could make it better. Never speak a kind word to a child, but forget that you were once a yourself.

Don't give to any charitable object, but save your money; you may need it some time.

Never smile if you can help it, but frown on everyone you meet.

Don't feel obliged to work, but consider that the world owes you a living.

Choose for your associates those who are as near like yourself as possible, and see how much sunshine you can keep out of other people's lives.

If you follow strictly all these rules, you will surely be miserable yourself and help to make other people so.

Wanted.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver Troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual costiveness, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, flat, rapid, and trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try one bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. Ask your oldest druggist, G. G. GREEN Woodbury, J.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has been told in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of other people. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used former remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; R. F. "Twelve dollars and a half, sir."
"That's your asking price, but what's the very lowest cash price that will buy that suit of clothing?"
"ONE PRICE ONLY, IS OUR WAY, and we NAME the VERY LOWEST CASH PRICE every pop."
"Oh, come off; your way or not, I'll give you a ten dollar note for that suit. I mean business, so come on, wrap it up and let me go."
"My dear sir, that may be your way of doing business, of meaning business, but it IS NOT OURS."

"We buy suits to retail at $5.00, $7.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $17.50, $20.00.

"We buy them (as nearly every other retailer does) direct from the manufacturers, select the VERY BEST FITTERS and WEARERS we can find, go the limit—that is, put every dollar into each suit we can possibly afford—and then make One Uniform Price to Each and Every Customer."

"We would not ask you one dollar more for any one of our suits than we intend taking, for your ten dollar note—we are too zealous of our reputation we have been a quarter of a century establishing. Believe it or not, this same rule applies to every hat, every pair of shoes, every shirt, every piece of dress goods, every piece of merchandise in our house.

"Are we right or are we wrong?"

"I must confess you have converted me. I endorse your way, every syllable and letter, and am almost constrained to beg pardon for having attempted the 'jockey business' with you. Wrap the suit up, take your $12.50—and welcome, too. If the clothing gives me satisfaction at the price—and that you guarantee—I shall make you a regular customer."

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dizziness and melancholia. At first they are slightly eruptions and finally serious illness. A sure remedy is applied. De Witt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. John X. Taylor.

Eating a gallon of ice-cream caused Amos Bridgewater, colored, to become violently insane.

THE WEATHER AND CROPS.

The Weather Bureau's Weekly Summary of the Condition of the Crops.

MUCH LOSS FROM EXCESSIVE RAINS.

Overflows in the Bottom Lands of Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and Michigan Have Caused Much Injury. Drought Largely Believed in Southern States.

Washington, July 22.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows: The lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and lake regions have continued to suffer from excessive rains, which have interrupted the farm work in the Ohio valley and in portions of the middle Atlantic states and New England. Much injury to crops and other property has resulted from excessive rains, and portions of Illinois, Missouri and Michigan.

Drought has been largely relieved in the southern states, but extensive areas in that section are still much in need of rain, especially the northern portions, extending from Oklahoma eastward to the Carolinas.

The temperature conditions as a whole have been favorable, although rather low in the extreme northern mountain districts. The north Pacific coast states sustained considerable damage from high winds and the Dakotas and Minnesota from hail storms in scattered localities.

The corn crop has made splendid progress in the state of Illinois, the valleys, except in Iowa and limited portions of Missouri and Illinois, the condition of the crop in Iowa being fairly good, on the whole, but great damage has resulted from floods on the river bottoms of the southern and eastern portions of that state and in northern Illinois. Highly favorable reports are received from Nebraska, Kansas and the greater part of Missouri and Illinois, and a decided improvement in the condition of the crop in the Ohio valley is indicated.

Rains have interfered with the harvesting of winter wheat, where unfinished, in the extreme northern districts, and have also been unfavorable for threshing in the central valleys, while considerable wheat in shock in the lower Missouri valley has been damaged. Harvesting continues in California and has begun in Oregon, where wheat is filling nicely. The crop in both Oregon and Washington has, however, sustained considerable damage from recent high winds.

Spring wheat has advanced favorably in the principal spring wheat states, but has sustained injury in scattered localities from hail storms. The harvest is well advanced in the northern states and is in progress in the central valleys, and while lodging is extensively reported from the Ohio, upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys and lake region, the general condition of the crop continues satisfactory.

Although generally improved in condition, cotton continues to suffer from drought in portions of the Carolinas, over the northern portion of the cotton belt and in extreme northwestern and southwestern Texas. In much the greater part of the last mentioned section the crop is normally developed and is heavily fruited, with ample moisture for present needs. The cotton crop is well noted in portions of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, and the crop continues in generally promising condition in the greater part of the central and eastern districts the plant continues small and blooming to top is extensively reported.

Apple prospects are somewhat improved in Missouri, and promise well in portions of Ohio, Kentucky, Nebraska and Michigan. The outlook in New York is less promising, but continues favorable in New England. Generally throughout the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic states the indications are for a very poor crop. Hay has been interrupted, and much hay spoiled by rains in the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and portions of the lake region.

The melancholy days have come,

—Cold Water Editor.

Dr. Legrain, an eminent French physician, defines a total abstainer
as "a human being that refuses to poison himself."

One of the commonest of the stock arguments against prohibition cannot be enforced. It should be inferred from this that it is one of the easiest things in the world to enforce a license law, but, unfortunately, the facts
do not sustain such a conclusion.
A license town in which the law is strictly enforced it so rare as to prove an exception.

A fight is on just now in Texas between the Prohibition and license factions, and the old threadbare argument against prohibition is being urged with all the force possible.

The ease with which the law is enforced in El Paso, Texas, is quite overlooked. There is probably not a city in the whole United States, where the law is more openly violated.

Although having a population of less than 25,000, it has 96 licensed saloons. Just two blocks from the courthouse and one block from police headquarters lies the worst section of the city.
Gambling is carried on in open violation of the state law without the least disturbance from the officers, except to collect the fines on the first day of each month.

The grand jury in a recent recent report said: "While we have no war to make on legiti-mate, orderly, well conducted saloons, we cannot close our eyes to the fact that many of them are but dens of vice, pitfalls for the unwary, where youths ranging in age from 12 to 18 years are not only allowed, but are encouraged and taught to gamble and drink. Such places deserve the severest censure."

"It is the opinion of this grand jury that the greatest evil existing in the city today is the dance hall, and we find they are all in open violation of the law, by having liquor sold on the premises. At such places young boys are allowed to congregate, and we are of the opinion that more crime and vice are attributable to them than to all other places of resort in the city."

"We are reliably informed that eleven young girls, residents of this city, have their applications on the waiting lists to become inmates and employees of these dance halls."

"It is our opinion that no amount of revenue derived by the city from such sources can compensate for the harm done to the youth of this place; they are vicious, demoralizing breeders of vice, and are tolerated only in places where crime is at a premium."

"We believe that the whole system of collecting fines by the city, from violations of our state laws, is wrong, and ought to be abolished. It is practically a license of crime. It is the opinion of this grand jury that with the closing of the dance halls and gambling places, the cost of maintaining the police department will be reduced 60 percent;
the cost of maintaining the court-will be reduced enough to more than make up for the loss in fines now collected by the city, which is in the attitude of being in partnership with the violators of the law.

"It is well known to this grand jury that prostitution is not confined to the reservation set aside for it, but has spread to other prominent streets in the southern part of the city. This is in a measure due to the fines collected, or in other words, there is a premium of $10 per month to get off the reservation, so called."

"In conclusion of matters pertaining to law violations, we would state that the giving of the liquor dealers' bond for $5,000, that an orderly house will be conducted and no gambling, no music, no minors, etc., will be allowed, is a farce in the extreme; such bonds are violated every day, and we would recommend that suit should be brought to recover on them."

As a result of this report the mayor issued an order requiring the separation of gambling joints and saloons, though permission was given for both to remain in the same building. All gambling was to stop at 2 a. m., and the front doors of saloons were to be closed from 6 a. m. Sunday to 6
p. m. Monday.

This regulation not proving satisfactory, the mayor amended his proclamation by requiring that the saloons should close at 12 o'clock on Saturday night and remain closed until 12 o'clock Sunday night.

In a few weeks an agent of a brewery took a petition around and secured 90 names asking the mayor to issue a third proclamation, which he did, but this time only saying that the saloons must close from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on Sunday. Such is the condition of affairs at the present time.
Although there is some indignation at the mayor's action, lawlessness is supreme and the saloon and its allied evils have free rein. One could hardly expect a non-enforced prohibition law to make a worse show than this.

Look on this picture, then on that.

We have seen in El Paso how far the evil influence of the licensed saloon may extend, but we will now take another view of the license system.

If there is a place where the license law may be really said to be enforced, we believe that the place is Fayette county, Pa. The license laws there prescribe that "the bars shall be closed at 9 o'clock at night," and it is claimed that this is actually done.

Another restriction is that
"holders of license shall not engage in politics," a rule that has frightened one or two dealers off from their ticket after they had been nominated.

Can anyone ask for anything in the form of a license better than this, and yet, what are the results? In spite of these and other equally stringent regulations, there has been a most appalling record of crime, violent deaths, accidents and misfortunes in the county.

In the year 1901, 39 retail liquor dealers, four brewers and nine distillers were granted licenses, for which the retail dealers paid $7,500, the brewers $4, 250 and the distillers $5,700, making a total of $17,450.

Since January 1, 1901, there have been 18 murders in the county, sixteen of them being directly the results of intoxicating liquors.

In 1901 there were 695 people confined in the county jail, and at this time in 1902 there have been 395. Almost every one of these commitments was the result of drinking.

An investigation of the expenses occurred in boarding these criminals, the costs of prosecu-

IN THE SHADOW OF DEATH.

A Whole Family Cured.
Mrs. C. H. Kingsbury, who keeps a millinery and fancy goods store at St.
Louis, Gratiot Co., Mich., and who is well known throughout the country,
says:

"I was badly troubled with rheumatism, catarrh and neuralgia. I had liver complaint and was very bilious. I was in a bad condition; every day I began to fear that I should never be a well woman; that I should have to settle down into a chronic invalid, and live in the shadow of death. I had JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA recommended to me. I took FOUR BOTTLES and IT CURED ME, and cured my family both. I am very glad that I heard of it. I would cheerfully recommend it to every one. I have taken many other kinds of medicine.
I prefer JOHNSTON'S to all of them."

tions, etc., of which an itemized account is given, shows the entire cost to reach the enormous sum of $107,680.70, showing an excess over the amount received from the licenses of $90,230.79, although it is more than this, for the county does not retain all of the license fees, as a part goes to the state.

And yet we hear it urged over and over that licenses ought to be granted for the sake of the revenue they bring to the treasury, and we have taken for our example a county in which the best conditions of the license system prevail.

OLD MAN'S SOLILOQUY.

BLUE G. BARD.

I was settin' here an' thinkin'
Of how things used to be
When I lived in the country.
Quiet like an' free.

There weren't no railway cars
Runnin' by the door;
There weren't no millionaires—
Most everyone was pore.

The men folks wore copperas pants,
Colored from the work of trees,
Kinder bulgin in the hind part
And beggy at the knees.

Wheat was cut with a cradle then
And threshed out with a nail,
The feller that give out seonest
We rid him on a rail.

There was no hifalutin' doins
In them good old days;
No sich thing as golfin'
An' the silly ping-pong craze.

I low folks would'er thought
It us the biggest sin av all
To git out on a Sunday
An' play a game of ball.

An' we didn't go to meetin'
To see what folks ud wear,
An' notice the hats they had on Nor how they fixt their hair.

We went to hear the preacher
An he thought it wrong
If we didn't bow our heads
And jine in every song.

Pears like now days folks
Is alius on the go,
An' not so good as they used to be
Some sixty years ago.

It may be cause I'm gittin' old,
An' allus lookin at the past,
That I don't like this movin' age
Where everything is fast.

I can't keep up in the race—
Guess it's fer the best—
To let the young ones take the lead
While I sit here and rest.

Is up Against It.

Some unregenerate son of his satanic majesty broke in the office of the Rockport News
last week and pied the forms after they had been set up for that issue of the paper.

The type was again set up and the next night a door was broken in and all of the composing sticks stolen. This is what we call running a paper under great difficulties and provocation. If the town authorities cannot protect property it might be a good idea to form a Law and Order League.

MORTON'S GAP ITEMS.

We are very sorry indeed to pen the sad news of the death of Mrs. H. B. Morton, which occurred Sunday morning, July 20, after a lingering illness, although none thought she was dangerously ill. She leaves two sisters, mother and father, husband and daughter to mourn their loss. She had confessed our Lord and Master several years ago and was ready to answer the summons, which all must obey. Her remains were taken to Salem cemetery Monday morning where an impressive and appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. Price Gatlin of Madisonville, after which all that was mortal was laid to rest in mother earth to wait the resurrection morning. We trust our Heavenly Father may throw his comforting arm around them in their sad and trying hour and that they may put their trust in him and thus be prepared to meet her in the happy climes above, where there will be neither sickness nor sorrow nor death, but one day of endless glory.
